

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Whereas, the following communication has been received by me:

OFFICE OF THE STATE VETERINARIAN,

BURKEVILLE, VA., November 30, 1908.

Since the fact has been determined by the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, and notice thereof has been received at this office, that a communicable disease, known as foot-and-mouth disease, exists among the live stock in the States of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Michigan, and Maryland;

Now THEREFORE, we, the Live Stock Sanitary Board of the State of Virginia, under authority conferred by Sec. 1599-a, paragraph 4, of the act of the General Assembly approved March 12, 1908, authorizing the State Live Stock Sanitary Board to quarantine against all contagious and infectious diseases affecting the domestic animals of other States, do hereby issue this order, quarantining against the following area, to-wit:

The States of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Michigan, and Maryland.

During the existence of this quarantine the transportation, movement, or trailing or driving of cattle, sheep, other ruminants, and swine, from the above mentioned States into Virginia, is hereby prohibited.

By order of the State Live Stock Sanitary Board.

Relative to Italian Sufferers

To the People of Virginia:

A disaster of appalling proportions has occurred in the island of Sicily and southern Italy. It is estimated that the lives of 200,000 people have been lost and 1,000,000 rendered homeless and destitute.

Never before in the world's history has there arisen a greater occasion for our sympathy or a greater necessity for immediate substantial aid to sufferers.

I believe that the people of Virginia will be glad to express their sympathy by making contributions to alleviate the present frightful distress of our fellow beings.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of this State, do earnestly request that the people of the cities, towns, villages and counties of Virginia, either in mass-meeting or by private subscription, make such contribution as they are able to do for the relief of those afflicted people.

I do further request that the people at their respective places of worship on Sunday next, or at the very earliest meeting, and all fraternal organizations, make collections for this purpose. Let each give as his conscience may dictate, or his means justify. The earlier these collections are made the better. The necessities of these people are urgent and immediate.

I appoint as a committee to receive any contributions that are made in pursuance of this request, Mr. John P. Branch, Mr. John B. Purcell, Mr. L. Z. Morris, Mr. James N. Boyd, Hon. J. Taylor Ellyson and Mr. William M. Hill, to any one of whom remittances may be made.

Cattle Quarantine

Whereas, in pursuance of an act of the General Assembly of Virginia, approved February 18, 1896, entitled "An Act to Provide for the Protection of Domestic Animals," etc., as amended by an act approved March 12, 1908, the State Live Stock Sanitary Board have established live stock quarantine lines, rules and regulations, and notified the executive of their action, as follows:

From the fifteenth day of March, 1909, continuously, unless this order is revoked, until the fifteenth day of December, 1909, inclusive, no cattle shall be moved from the following counties to that portion of the State not herein mentioned except for immediate slaughter, and then only according to the rules and regulations for moving quarantined cattle.

List of counties in Virginia quarantined for the year 1909, owing to the presence of cattle ticks therein, is as follows: Brunswick, Chesterfield, Fluvanna, Greensville, Isle of Wight, Lunenburg, Nansemond, Mecklenburg, Southampton, Surry, Sussex, York, and that part of Warwick county not included in the Newport News magisterial district.

During the continuance of this order the county of Lunenburg is provisionally quarantined, that is, cattle from the non-infested portion of this county may be moved for purposes other than immediate slaughter, provided the said cattle are inspected and passed jointly by the State and Federal inspectors and their written permission is obtained and exhibited at time of movement.

"From the other counties and parts of counties in that portion of the State of Virginia, which is quarantined for splenic, Southern or Texas fever, cattle shall only be moved or allowed to move interstate to points outside of the quarantined area in accordance with the regulations for immediate slaughter."

THEREFORE, from the fifteenth day of March, 1909, no cattle are to be transported from said area south or below said State quarantine line, except by rail or boat, and then only for immediate slaughter, and when so transported the following regulations must be observed:

(a) When any cattle in course of transportation from said area are unloaded above, north, east, or west of this line to be fed or watered, or for other purposes, said cattle shall be placed in pens or yards set apart for infected cattle, and no other cattle shall be admitted thereto.

(b) On unloading said cattle at their points of destination, chutes, alley ways, and pens, sufficiently isolated, shall be set apart to receive them, and no other cattle shall be admitted to said chutes, pens and alleyways, and the regulations relating to the movements of cattle from said area, prescribed by the cattle sanitary officers of the State where unloaded, shall be carefully observed. The cars or boats that have carried said stock shall be cleaned and disinfected as soon as possible after unloading and before they are again used to transport, store, or shelter animals or merchandise.

(c) All cars carrying cattle from said area shall bear printed placards, the letters of which shall be plain and not less than one and one-half inches in height, to be affixed by the railroad company hauling the same, stating that said cars contain Southern cattle, and each of the way-bills, conductor's manifests, and bills of lading of said shipments by cars or boats, shall have a note plainly written or stamped upon its face with a similar statement. Whenever any cattle have come from said area and shall be reshipped from any point at which they have been unloaded to other points of destination, the cars carrying said animals shall bear similar placards with like statements, and the way-bills, conductor's manifests, or bills of lading be so stamped. At whatever point these cattle are unloaded they must be placed in separate pens, to which no other cattle shall be admitted.

(d) No boat having on board cattle from said district shall receive on board cattle from outside of said district. Cattle from said district shall not be received on board when destined to points outside of said district where proper facilities have not been provided for transferring the said cattle from the landing to the stock yards and slaughter houses without passing over public highways, unless permission for such passing is first obtained from the local authorities.

(e) The cars and boats used to transport such animals, the chutes, alleyways, and pens used during transportation, and at points of destination, shall be disinfected in the following manner:

Remove all litter and manure. This litter and manure may be disinfected by mixing it with lime or saturating it with a 5 per cent. solution of 100 per cent. carbolic acid; or, if not disinfected, it may be stored where no cattle can come in contact with it during the period from February 1st to November 15th of each year.

Wash the cars and the feeding and watering troughs with water until clean.

Saturate the entire interior surface of the cars and the fencing, troughs, and chutes of the pens with a mixture made of one and one-half pounds of lime and one-quarter pound 100 per cent. straw-colored carbolic acid to each gallon of water; or a solution made by dissolving four ounces of chloride of lime to each gallon of water may be used; or disinfect the cars with a jet of steam under a pressure of not less than 50 pounds to the square inch.

Notice is hereby given that cattle infested with the boophilus bovis, or Southern cattle tick, disseminate the contagion of splenetic, or Southern fever (Texas fever), therefore cattle originating outside of the district described by this order, or amendments thereof, and which are infested with the boophilus bovis ticks shall be considered as infectious cattle and shall be subject to the rules and regulations governing the movement of Southern cattle.

Stockyard companies receiving cattle infested with said ticks shall place such cattle in the pens set aside for the use of Southern cattle and transportation companies are required to clean and disinfect all cars and boats which have contained the same, according to the requirements of the above regulations.

These rules and regulations shall also apply to the importation into this State of cattle from sections outside of Virginia included within the Federal quarantine line.

Now, THEREFORE, I, Claude A. Swanson, Governor of the Commonwealth, call upon all officers of this State, and the citizens generally, to be vigilant and active in enforcing the provisions of the said act and maintaining the said quarantine rules and regulations, so that the live-stock industry of Virginia may be protected against Texas or splenetic fever. I further call attention to the penalties imposed for violations of the provisions of said act, or the rules, regulations, orders, or directions of the said State Live Stock Sanitary Board establishing and governing the said quarantine.

GIVEN under my hand and under the lesser seal of the Commonwealth, at Richmond, this fifteenth day of May, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and nine, and in the one hundred and thirty-third year of the Commonwealth.

Said test must have been conducted by a qualified veterinarian and approved by the live stock quarantine authorities, or State veterinarian, of the State from which said cattle originate. This certificate must be presented to and approved by the State veterinarian of Virginia before said cattle shall be allowed to enter the State.

W. F. CREASY, M. D.,
Quarantine Officer,

FOR THE DISTRICT OF ELIZABETH RIVER AND ITS BRANCHES.

DR. W. F. COOPER,
Quarantine Officer,
Newport News, Va.

MY DEAR DOCTOR:

The board of quarantine commissioners for the district of Elizabeth river and its branches have passed the following resolutions:

Whereas, the quarantine inspection of vessels coming to this port for bunker coal only, as far as the Lamberts Point piers, after having passed the inspection of the United States Government marine hospital service station at Hampton Roads or Old Point, works a serious delay and expense to them, and therefore, is a detriment and injury to our commerce; therefore, be it

Resolved, That from and after March 1st next the quarantine medical officer of this district shall exempt from inspection all such vessels coming into this port for bunker coal only.

Believing that it is proper and right that the quarantine regulations governing the ports of Newport News and Norfolk should be similar so that there can be no discrimination or difference in opportunities for commerce, I have determined to make the same regulations apply to the port of Newport News that now apply to Norfolk. Therefore, I direct that on and after August 1, 1908, such vessels that are exempt from the inspection under the regulations of the board of quarantine commissioners for the district of Elizabeth river and its branches shall be likewise exempt from inspection by you.

Respectfully,

CLAUDE A. SWANSON.
Governor.

Houdon's Washington

In the Rotunda of the Capitol Building.

A monograph of the late Col. Sherwin McRae begins thus: "Houdon's statue of Washington is interesting to mankind as the most perfect representation of this peerless man that exists. While it is the cherished object of pride and affection with our whole country, Virginia remembers that before time and opportunity had fully developed the civic virtues of Washington, she acknowledged him the chief of her sons and sealed the acknowledgment with this matchless statue."

Let it be remembered in this connection that as early as the 15th of May, 1784—five years before the adoption of the Federal Constitution and Washington's election as President, and, therefore, before he had achieved his civic fame and given the world the best illustration that—

"Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war," the General Assembly had voted this statue to him, and Madison had penned the inscription for the pedestal as it now appears thereon:

"The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Virginia have caused this statue to be erected as a monument of affection and gratitude to George Washington, who, uniting to the endowments of the hero the virtues of the patriot, and exerting both in establishing the liberties of his country, has rendered his name dear to his fellow-citizens, and given to the world an immortal example of true glory."

Is there anything more felicitous in ancient or modern literature than this inscription—portraying, as it does, the character of the man with as much fidelity as the statue itself depicts his person!

Mr. Jefferson, being then in Paris, engaged Houdon to come to Virginia to make the statue, saying of him: "He is, without rivalry, the first statuary of this age, as a proof of which he receives orders from every other country for things intended to be capital."

Washington was consulted as to the costume of the statue, and with characteristic modesty declined to dictate in the matter, saying, however: "On the contrary, I shall be perfectly satisfied with whatever may be judged decent and proper. I should even scarcely have ventured to suggest that perhaps a servile adherence to the garb of antiquity might not be altogether so expedient as some little deviation in favor of the modern costume, if I had not learned from Col. Humphreys that this was a circumstance hinted in conversation by Mr. West to M. Houdon." To this Jefferson replies: "I was happy to find * * * that the modern dress for your statue would meet your approbations. I found it strongly the sentiment of West, Copely, Trumbull and Brown in London, after which it would be ridiculous to add that it was my own. I think a modern in an antique dress as just an object of ridicule as a Hercules or Marius with a periwig and chapeau bras."

Houdon sailed from Paris in August, 1785, arrived at Mount Vernon October 3d, ensuing, and returned to Paris about January, 1786. He completed the statue in 1788. The capitol not being finished, it was detained in France till 1796, reached Philadelphia in April, and Richmond in May of that year, and was erected in the rotunda May 14, 1796. In September, 1872, on account of the insecurity of the floor, it was removed to a place of security till the floor could be strengthened, and was replaced in the rotunda in 1873.

Lafayette said of the statue: "It is a fac simile of Washington's person," and Gilbert Stuart, the great artist, said in effect, that the Houdon bust is par excellence the true likeness.

The artist received as compensation one thousand English guineas, about $5,250, his expenses to and from Virginia, and the cost of his life insurance while absent from France.

Dr. W. P. Palmer, formerly secretary of the Virginia Historical Society, relates this incident: "Rembrandt Peale came to Richmond in 1855 to see this statue, and said, in conversation with me: 'When a boy I lived on the same square with General Washington in Philadelphia, during his second term as President, and used to see him almost every day. Thus, I became very familiar with his appearance. Now if you will stand in the southeast corner of the rotunda, and look at this statue on a level with it, you may well think you are beholding Washington himself. That is the man, sir, exactly.' "

Peale afterwards painted one of the best-known portraits of Washington.

Dr. Palmer also said that the statue was pronounced by Robert Winthrop, in a conversation with Mr. Wirt Henry, of this city, to be not only the most precious, but one amongst the most priceless pieces of marble in the world.

It is the only cast of Washington extant, the splendid statue of him by Canova, the property of North Carolina, having been destroyed by fire many years since.

This gem of ours ought to be placed in some fire-proof building as soon as possible, before it meet the same fate.

We have this anecdote from Hon. Johnson Barbour, of Orange county, as to the rather more-than-erect attitude of the statue. It seems that a statuary, as well as a poet, must have his "inspiration." Houdon arrived at Mount Vernon, and was treated with great consideration by Washington. He fell sick for a few days, but after his recovery made no signs that he was ready to begin work, and the General began to be a little weary of him.

One morning at breakfast a note was handed Washington, who had given notice that he wished to buy a pair of carriage horses, stating that a pair had been send down for his inspection. He walked out to look at them, and Houdon with him. Expressing himself as much pleased with the horses, he asked their price, and was answered, a thousand dollars! He at once, and all unconsciously, assumed an attitude and aspect of indignation at such extortion, when to everybody's amazement, Houdon cried out triumphantly, "Ah, I 'ave him, I 'ave him!" and from that hour there was no loss of time till the cast was made.

So Washington did not buy the horses, but Houdon caught his "inspiration," and the statue its pose.

From Capitol of Virginia, by W. W. Scott and W. G. Stanard.

II. Virginia under the London Company.

SIR THOMAS SMITH, President and Treasurer of the London Company. As Treasurer of the London Company, Smith (or Smythe) was President of the Company, and the real Governor of Virginia, though resident in England.....	1606-1618.

THOMAS WEST, LORD DELAWARE, Governor and Captain-General.....	1609-1618.
Sir Thomas Gates, Lieutenant-General and Deputy-Governor	May to June, 1610.

¹ It is difficult to make a clear and comprehensive list of the Governors of Virginia, for the reason that the person bearing the title of governor often resided in England, while the real official head, residing in Virginia, was a deputy. The history of Virginia executives divides itself into nine heads, including the period of attempted colonization in the time of Elizabeth, though the real history of Virginia begins with the London Company, whose rule lasted for eighteen years, under two presidents or treasurers—Sir Thomas Smith and Sir Edwin Sandys—neither of whom visited the colony. Therefore, the early government of Virginia was intended to be a colonial council, with a president, often spoken of as governor. The first man ever to have the title of "governor" was Lord Delaware, appointed by the London Company, in 1609, to hold office for life. He held this position for nine years, dying in 1618. He resided in Virginia only nine months, and for the balance of the nine years was represented by a deputy. In 1624 the London Company lost its charter, and Virginia then passed into the hands of the King, who,

from time to time, appointed royal governors. These governors often resided in England, and were represented in Virginia by deputies. Virginia still retained a resident council, and if, for any reason, the governor or deputy governor was absent from the colony, the president of the council was the acting governor. In 1652 Virginia passed under the Commonwealth (Cromwell), and the General Assembly, by its own authority, elected four governors. From 1660 to 1776 Virginia was again under the rule of the King, who appointed the governors. During this period there were only ten governors of Virginia, but a great number of deputies. Of these governors, Sir William Berkeley, Sir Herbert Jeffries, Lord Culpeper and Sir Edmund Andros, were residents of Virginia the greater portion of their terms. But the Earl of Orkney, the Earl of Albemarle, the Earl of Loudoun and Sir Jeffrey Amherst, governors from 1697 to 1763, never came to Virginia, and were represented by deputies. The last two governors to be appointed by the King, Lord Botetourt and Lord Dunmore, resided in Virginia during their term of office.

Therefore, on the resignation of Monroe, George William Smith acted as governor, but when he was burned to death in the Richmond Theatre he in turn was succeeded by Peyton Randolph till the legislature elected James Barbour.
